Campaigning, Challengers, Poll Watchers, Media,
and All Others

Campaigning at the Polls:

1. All campaigning is prohibited within 100 feet of any entrance used by voters to enter and exit the polls. No exception. It is prohibited to have any campaign-related literature or visuals, not provided by the clerk, in the hallways used by voters on their way to vote. This rule extends to campaign solicitors, bumper stickers, literature, visuals, and petitions. You may need to ask a guest to cover or remove prohibited items for the day.
2. Before the polls open, a member of the election inspector team is to do a walk-through of the precinct and check for campaign materials within and outside the building. If located outside, check that it is outside the 100 feet radius and remove if it falls within. Make sure all election workers know where the 100 ft. line is.
3. A car may be parked within the 100 feet radius if the driver is currently voting. After they finish, they must remove their vehicle from within the 100-foot radius.
4. Voters are prohibited from wearing campaign- or partisan-related clothing or accessories into the polling location. If an inspector views a voter entering wearing anything on their person bearing a logo or the name of a candidate or party, they must remove it before being allowed to vote.

Voters are allowed to bring in campaign literature, or “slate cards” for personal use but the material must be concealed when they enter the polling location and may only be brought out while voting privately. No material is to be left behind at a polling station. Inspectors should periodically check poll booths for discarded campaign materials.

5. If an individual insists on violating these restrictions, contact the Superchair first, then clerk, and, if necessary, the local law enforcement.

Exit Pollsters:

1. They may only survey voters AFTER they exit the polling location
2. Pollsters must stay 20 feet from the entrance to the building and may not enter the building.
3. They may not question voters entering the polls.
